CONFERENCE SESSIONS

Welcome

The Welcome introduction was provided by the moderator who introduced and thanks those attending for their support during the project, and for coming to this conference / workshop. Some of the key players were duly noted and acknowledged.

Project DESSDYS

Alessandro D'Alessandro (Foundation P. A. Mileno Onlus) provided an overview of the project, including www.dessdys.eu website, e-book, guide for tutors and templates for key tasks. He presented the main objectives of the project, and the activities realized in order to achieve them in partner countries, and particularly in Italy. The importance of the project ideas was highlighted; the satisfaction of the results was expressed.

Good study skills – Factor for successful learning

Daniela Boneva (Dyslexia Association – Bulgaria) provided an overview of the topic about Study skills, what do we include in this category and how good study skills can affect the students' achievements and results. Based on this understanding a set of Templates has been developed in order to help students in developing/improving their study skills. They were accomplished with instructions how to use. All the Templates are free available on the project website and can be downloaded from there.

Computer games in language teaching for dyslexic students

Anna Gyorfi (BF Edu) shared her experience in teaching technologies for dyslexic learners. She focused on learning foreign languages using assistive software and other resources on-line. That's why Dessdys is so important and the impact can be really considerable, because it brought up the idea about the importance of the study skills development.

Dessdys project impact

Binnur Kucukyildiz showed how the Dessdys partnership strategy involved a close cooperation at European level to review dyslexia provisions and distil best practice to meet the user needs. She talked about the aims of the dissemination activities:

- To raise awareness of the project and publicize its activities, particularly project outcomes.
- To provide a mechanism to leverage individual efforts at international and transnational levels
- To identify, define and undertake exploitation activities which will be beneficial to the professionals and learners

She finally highlighted the main achievements of the work done in the past two years.

Conclusions and Q & A Session

A plenary session was held, where members of the audience were able to put questions to a panel of Italian specialists and international project partners.
